

What is the NAMI Homefront Education Program?

NAMI Homefront is a free, six-session education program for family, friends and significant others of Military Service Members and Veterans with mental health conditions. It focuses on the unique needs of military and veteran communities.

The course is designed to help family members understand and support their loved one while maintaining their own well-being. The trained teachers of this course are also family members who have experience with military culture and know what it is like to have a loved one living with mental illness.

NAMI Georgia, the local organization of NAMI, will offer its NAMI Homefront Education Program for the Spring beginning on Tuesday, April 5th 2016. It will be held on Tuesdays from 6 until 8:30pm at the Atlanta VA Medical Center in the General Mental Health Clinic (Ground Floor, GB 151).

Participant Perspectives

NAMI Homefront is an adaptation of the evidence-based NAMI Family-to-Family Education Program, which has been used in VA health facilities since the late 1990s.

“You realize that he will never be the same having been through war. I learned how to treat him more as an adult than as a hurt child.”

— Mother of a Veteran after graduating from a NAMI Family-to-Family class held at the VA in Ohio
